Here is something to remind us of our absent songbird, Lillian Russell. It is culled from a London paper: "Lillian Russell, at the Prince of Wales's Theatre the other night, wore a ravishing costume of peachbloom velvet that suited her blonde beauty to perfection. Her diamonds were greatly en evidence, and attracted the attention of the feminine portion of the audience almost to the extinction of their interest in the performance. Miss Russell is a really beautiful woman, and she has a right to her diamonds. for she has made for herself a position upor

The villain has this human-animal team driven around at his pleasure, until finally the tables are turned and just retribution meted out. This effect should rival the sawmill, the tank and the fire-engine.

De Wolf Hopper says that this is his lucky season. He picked out the winner in the Brooklyn Handicap; he had the luck to omit his usual Summer engagement this year; he made a record for encurance in London, and finally, won five out of six pools in the betting on the daily runs of the City of Paris. He might have wen them all had it not been tor the fact that a vigilance committee, composed of Burr McIntosh, Howard Kyle and others, waited on him with blackened faces the night before their arrival in port and threatened to throw him overboard if he won the pool on the arrival of the pilot-boat.

Dixey says that the reason Mars is getting so near the earth is that its inhabitants feel a hankering for a glimpse of "The Mascot."

I spent Saturday at Revere Beach," says a "I spent Saturday at Revere Beach," says a private letter, "a few miles from Boston. It is Marie Jansen's Summer home. She owns quite a number of the cottages and each one is named after the operas in which she has appeared. The charming girl drives a pair of very spirited horses. She is a regular Summer girl. in very negligee costume—cap, shirt and simple skirt—and the way she makes the horses go is a treat to behold."

Tim Cronin is endeavoring to secure "U and I" from hits owner, to take on the road this season. Mr. Cronin was going to tour with "Lord Rooney," but he could not secure that piece in the way he wished to do.

There is quite a theatrical colony down at Little Silver, N. J. (N. B.—The race-track is only a mile distant.) De Wolf Hopper is there with his little son Jack, and so are Ben Stev-ens, Jack Sanford, W. H. Dunlevy, Waiter Collier, Walter Lamb and Louis Harrison.

Miss Eisle DeWolfe and Miss Elizabeth Marbury have been doing the "continong" to-gether. They have visited Aix-les-Bains, Geneva, Lucerne, and other guide-book re-sorts. They are shortly to return.

"Jerry" is the name of the play with which the Windsor Theatre will open its season saturday, Aug. 13. Says the gentleman employed to incite interest in this piece: "After the run of buzz-saws; "rivers of real water which are in reality nothing but a shallow tank built upon the stage, in which the water is seldom over a few inches deep; fire engines, police patrols and ambulances—the only climax which the modern writer of comedy drama an originate—it is a pleasure togan-nounce the coming of a play which is of the strongest interest, full of highly dramatic situations and depending upon legitimate means for effects."

situations and depending upon legitimate means for effects." Miss Georgia Bucklin will make her ap-marance with the Marie Tempest opera ompany, having been specially engaged by tonager J. M. Hill. Miss Bucklin is well known in the upper strata of society. She is the daughter of William C. Bucklin, Presi-dent of the Shelaon Manufacturing Company, Miss Bucklin has just returned from New-port in order to begin rehearsals. Her ap-pearance in "The Fencing Laster" will be an interesting event.

However, old tongue-wagging Dame Rumor seems to have made a change of base of clate and moved bag and baggage over to Cance Place Inn, for now the air is pregnant with reports that John L. has kicked over the traces. The latter reports are about as stilly as were those from Asbury Park. The big fellow by his faithful training gets a bilistered foot, and because he takes to comparatively easy in order to give the foot a chance to heal he is going to pieces. It these prominent sporting men who have as much been on Sullivan are so dreadfully unessy, why don't they get on the train and go to down and ascertain for themselves? At a meeting of the National Cross-Country Association to be lield next Monday evening the annual meet from April to November will be considered. The opinion of a majority of cross-country men is that the change would be a good one. The men would be in better form in the Fall, having had the bonefit or several months' outdoor work, whereas in the Spring they are fortunate it they can get a month of favorable outdoor weather. The N. C. C. A. will also try and devise some plan whereby it can obtain the A. A. C.'s sanction to hold its proposed October games.

Tomlin's regaita, a yearly event on the Hudson, open to Hudson River boat clubs, will take place this year next Saturday afternoon. The Active, Valencias, Waverleys, Rosedaies and Atlantics will all probably compete. The course is a mile and a haif straightaway above Weehawket. Among the events will be a single shell and gig, pairoared gig and a four-oared barge.

An athlete who may cut some figure in the running broad jump at the A. A. U. championships oct. I is Robert Lyons, of the N. Y. A. C. He has been carefully training, and George Goldie, the club trainer, thinks well of his chances. He is a brother of Harry Lyons, who recently beat Downs from the seven-yard mark in a 220-yard sprint.

The N. Y. A. C. "chippy crew," the best amateur eight in the country except perhaps Yale, has disbanded for the season. Capt. Giannini concluded not to enter in any more regattas, as the crew had carned glory enough for awhile.
